

WINTER WONDERLAND

Although spring has officially begun, snow is still very much a part of daily life in the High Country.

Here are some pictures taken by our old friend Malcolm Langley of NZ Adventures based in Greymouth.

They were taken on June 25 on the way to and at Big River outside of Reefton.

The snow had fallen the day before and Malcolm was moving equipment to the DoC hut for the Eco Tourism course students and staff at the TaiPoutini Polytechnic.

"Had to bulldoze my way through the snow-loaded tee tree to get there," he said.
